

The student's name is Ethan, and his Japanese class will start in the second semester. The goal is for him to improve enough by the start of the class so that he can understand the Japanese lessons without any issues. The plan is to start with hiragana and katakana, beginning with the 'a-i-u-e-o.' The lessons are normally once a week, usually starting around 5:00 PM.